

The Bulldog Trust Invitation

The Bulldog Trust invites you to the Engaging Experience Philanthropy Network in partnership with The Rainmaker Foundation***.

Wednesday 22nd May at 6.30pm
at Two Temple Place, London WC2R 3BD

Contribute your expertise:

The inspiring founders of three charities tackling the issues of environmental and marine crisis, homelessness through music, and women's rights around the world are seeking your knowledge and vision. Following three short presentations, relaxed group discussions will provide Chris, Marie and Julia with the opportunity to gather your perspective and advice on the strategic challenges faced by their organisations.

6.30pm: Arrive at Two Temple Place

6.45pm: Charity presentations

7.15pm: Drinks

7.30pm: Group discussions

8.15pm: Networking, drinks and canapés

Please RSVP to:
marina@bulldogtrust.org

**The Rainmaker Foundation inspires people to help others by connecting individuals, organisations and causes together for greater good. Rainmakers are a globally connected group of donors, global business leaders and entrepreneurs who are committed to improving the world or their part of it.*

Speakers:

Chris Barnes

Co-founder and trustee of Blue Marine Foundation and executive producer of the award winning documentary-film The End of The Line. Chris is an angel-investor in new media start-ups and an expert in film production and advertising.

Marie Benton

Director & founder of The Choir with No Name which has performed on ITV's This Morning and appeared on Channel 4 Secret Millionaire. Marie is a talented musician and singer and has worked for London's leading homeless charities.

Julia Lalla-Maharajh

CEO & founder of women's rights charity, The Orchid Project. Julia spent 15 years in the corporate sector and set up Orchid after a life-changing experience volunteering in Ethiopia. In 2010, she won a World Economic Forum competition and was invited to speak at Davos.